

There are several perfectly acceptable collection systems you can choose from.

But if you want proven Artificial Intelligence and real-time cell phone management with viable in and outbound text messaging, where would you go?

Can you compare a web page, or your IVR's payment portal, with a collection robot that is as good as an agent, and can understand and speak almost any language?

If you cannot settle for less, we have the only AI platform for collections. We are Quantrax and our system is RME_x.
